

2011 ANNUAL REPORT

Michael Perkins: Maya & Aidan

International Wolf Center

2011 OVERVIEW

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE YEAR

The International Wolf Center sparked educational dialogue about wolves through Facebook, a blog and a kids' page in International Wolf magazine in 2011. The Center's staff shared fun essays and videos about wolves and outdoor activities on a new blog called Wild Bytes. We transported our educators and resident wolves into student classrooms via lively WolfLink videoconferences. The Center ended the year with a positive financial balance, thanks to the support of community members who voted for us to win $65,000 in a Chase online contest. We watched the Center's wolf pack dynamics change with the unexpected death from injury of seven-year-old Maya and began planning for the introduction of new pups in 2012. Thank you for your support this past year. We look forward to your support in helping us reach out with excellent wolf education for students and adults in 2012.

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

- 7,136 Members from 32 countries support our mission.
- 33,951 People visited the International Wolf Center's interpretive facility in Ely, Minnesota.
- 1,437 People participated in group visits and single- and multi-day programs.
- 1,747 Guests participated in "What's for Dinner?" to learn more about wolves hunting and feeding behavior.
- 2,220 Students and other audiences participated in live WolfLink interactive technology (585 in Minnesota).
- 133 Members joined our Wolf Care team in "Behind the Scenes" to follow members of the team as they perform daily tasks.
- 90 People attended seminars on wolf behavior and issues.
- 1.6 million Web site visitors, with 5.5 million page views.
- 1.2 million Facebook visits.
- 11,362 Fans followed us on Facebook, double our 2010 total.

OUTREACH

- Increased group visits by 14% over 2010.
- Launched a new orientation film running continuously in the Center's auditorium serving as an introduction to the Center's mission, facility and programs.
- Augmented donor and member cultivation and stewardship efforts, including new special events and recognition opportunities.
- Doubled the Center's Facebook presence by consistently posting more educational topics related to wolves and wildlands.

EDUCATION

- Expanded participation in WolfLink, a robust environmental education program for school children and teachers using videoconferencing technology by 66% over 2010 and improved on its delivery with the acquisition and installation of new equipment.

- Introduced Wild Bytes, a new blog dedicated to engaging readers, teachers and students.
- Relaunched Wild Kids, a new kids page section in International Wolf magazine.
- Introduced Day at the Den school day programs and secured funding to offer program fee subsidies to low-income families.

"The International Wolf Center has always been my 'go-to' place for objective information about wolves and wolf management. You play such a critical role in this regard. Wolf conservation would be lost without IWC...the polarization would overwhelm us all. Thanks for all you do!"
— Former Montana Wolf Coordinator

- Introduced Wolves Without Borders, an educational partnership program between elementary students in Minnesota, Canada and Mexico that incorporates videoconferencing programs with online blogs and Skype. As a result, 55% of the students polled had changed their ideas about wolves.

- Created education materials for Wolf Loan Boxes, hands-on resource materials that teachers and others can check out for use in their classrooms or public programs, in Hmong, Spanish, Somali and Braille.

- New traveling exhibits at the Center included Thinking Like an Island, Our Shared Planet and Images from the Lake Superior North Shore and the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness.

- Presented workshops for early childhood and elementary school teachers.
- Facilitated a workshop to encourage parents to engage children with the environment.

- Conducted educational presentations at numerous organizations and conferences, including the Minnesota Science Teachers Association and National Science Teachers Association.

2011 HIGHLIGHTS

- Created an online curriculum on wolf ecology for educators.
- Hosted numerous public lectures about wolves and wildlands.
- Continued presentation of podcasts to provide educational information on a variety of topics including current wild wolf issues, wolves in the news and management issues related to the Center's ambassador wolves.
- Offered new and returning daily programs for visitors, including Behind the Scenes, Wolf 101, and Predator Prey, a new outdoor education program focusing on the relationship between wolves and their prey, a popular program with children.

INFRASTRUCTURE

- Conducted a comprehensive internal audit and subsequent update and overhaul of the Center's technology (hardware, software and systems), made possible by a major multi-year grant from an individual donor.
- Installed new financial management software that integrates retail and accounting functions.

"WolfLink is exactly what we had been looking for, something to make the kids use reasoning and logical thinking and utilize background information to form decisions. WolfLink is interesting and engaging. It led students to make their own conclusions based on the information..."

— School Teacher, Brevard, Florida

"My family had the most amazing time on our visit to the International Wolf Center for the Rendezvous family slumber party in August 2011! The whole thing was beyond our expectations! It was beautiful beyond belief—the Center and habitat for wolves. The programming was educational and fun and the staff was fabulous!"
